Over 30 years of experience dealing with a wide variety of goods. Offering a personal and friendly service, advising clients on the entry of single items to the overseeing of the clearance and best disposal of house contents. Started under auctioneer father William Landles, who himself was carrying on the business from his father, Edmund Landles.

Interesting experience ~ sifting through a foot of muck at the bottom of a cellar whilst overseeing a clearance of a house on London Road and unearthing jewellery, silver, coins and a full 19th century ironstone dinner service, that the owner had forgotten was there!

Over 25 years of auctioneering experience having started one Wednesday in “the back room” at Blackfriars Halls, King’s Lynn. Also learnt the job starting as a porter for auctioneer father, William Landles.

Highlights to date include selling an early eighteenth century walnut chest of drawers for £17,000 and an oil painting by Mary Potter at £15,000, both removed from local residences on instructions from executors.

Interesting experience ~ Auctioning an official Johnny Wilkinson signed England rugby shirt at a local charity auction night.
